

GAMBOND APPOINTS JACK WIGGLESWORTH AS NON-EXECUTIVE CHAIRMAN

London, United Kingdom – 13 June 2005, GamBond, the world's first bond guarantee provider for the remote gaming gambling industry, is pleased to announce the appointment of Jack Wigglesworth to its board, as an independent non-executive Chairman with immediate effect.

Jack, 63, achieved an MA in Philosophy, Politics & Economics from Jesus College, Oxford University and a Hon D.Sc from City University.

Jack's career in the financial services and banking sectors spans 42 years. He started in 1963 with Phillips & Drew as a gilts desk economist, where he later went on hold senior positions with W. Greenwell & Co, Lloyds Merchant Bank, Henderson Administration, J. P. Morgan Futures and Citifutures Ltd. Jack was a member of the founding body of the London International Financial Futures and Options Exchange (LIFFE) and was appointed Director of the Board (1982-1998), later being the Deputy Chairman of LIFFE (1992-1995) and Chairman (1995-1998).

Commenting on the appointment, Gareth Wong, GamBond's founder said: "I am delighted that Jack has joined the board of GamBond as an independent non-executive chairman. To have someone with his calibre of experience in financial services will significantly strengthen our board, and provide GamBond with the financial guidance and expertise needed to establish a worldwide bond scheme."
